By this point, virtually everyone is anxious over violence. Ideologues of all sides are calling for blood or fear mongering that their enemies are coming for their throats. Notable leftists & even lukewarm liberals (including Hasan, who is probably the single most influential leftist influencer) are making innuendoes about assassinating Trump. Conservative elements are warning about a potential Marxist revolution from the newly disenfranchised left. "Bonapartism is the moderates' solution" is not an uncommon phrase. And it's cells are ambushing ICE officers. Mainstream political commentators are saying things that you would only hear from people like me on Substack only 10 years ago. Luigi Mangione is practically the most popular person in America. The prevailing view from both sides is that this is the decision point, whoever wins this decade will ensure the other side never wins again.

In the opening chapters of Mein Kampf, Hitler speaks of the atmosphere in Europe leading up to the outbreak of what would cascade into the Great War. An excerpt from chapter 9:

> "Then the Balkan War broke out, and with it, the first gusts of the coming tornado swept across a highly strung Europe. In those days, many men felt the atmosphere oppressive with foreboding, so much so that the sense of an impending catastrophe became transformed into a feeling of impatient expectancy."

Later, in chapter VII, he says this in regards to the period immediately preceding the 1918 revolution:

> "For a long time there had been something in the air which was indefinable and oppressive. People were saying that something was bound to happen within the next few weeks, although I could not imagine what this meant."

Like much of what he speaks of in the first few chapters of the book, these passages show a very relatable experience for our own struggles today. Both the anxiety of the looming conflict over global dominance in a multipolar world & increasingly radical ideological conflict between incompatible worldviews. I recommend those who also read The Great Replacement by Brenton Tarrant. You won't learn anything, except maybe the psychological aspect of a man conducting a mass shooting. But take note of his politics, his talking points. These were fairly uncommon in 2009, they are nothing out of the usual of any given 4IW Twitter account in 2025. The dividing line between Tarrant & all these others is that the question changed from "Why doesn't somebody do something?" to "Why don't I do something?"

This isn't meant to encourage you to go ask out your local mosque, the learning experience is that Tarrant was a completely weak person who couldn't have mental issues, he wasn't some chronically online retard. He was a normal man, with a decent job & social life. A man with what has become fairly standard ideological beliefs. He could've been your coworker, your classmate, your neighbor. He could've been you. His attack was probably a short sighted waste of a good revolutionary, but when reading about events like the Southport stabbing or Rotherham rapes it's difficult to empathize with him & understand why he felt he had to do something.

After all, the single most important piece of wisdom granted from our ancestors is "Where you recognize evil, call it such & give your enemies no peace." (Havamal 127)

The only question now is who shoots first. You can find sparks in any direction, which will be the one to light the fire: Which leftist ambush on ICE agents, or random guy killing lawmakers, will future historians refer to as our very own Lexington & Concord? I see two possibilities.

The first, & most likely, is the UK collapsing under its own weight. No other Western country has faced the horrific situation of the UK. The post-civil rights US & Germany in 2016 come close, but still pale in comparison to what the Brits have faced in the last few decades. To add on to that, the ruling establishment is practically a parody of the worst stereotypes about liberal governments. Their answer to the grooming gangs controversy was to outright cover it up & let through their teeth. They require biometrics to watch porn & talk about some retarded Netflix show, literally anything except admitting the actual problem. They're heavily hilarious making some of those headlines & politicians' statements, or at least it would be if I wasn't privy to the court documents showing exactly what happened to thousands of young girls in Rotherham for the last 20 years.

Not-so-fun-fact: One vision, a pre-teen girl, had lightbulb inserted & broken inside of her vagina. Another was sold as a sex slave to 5 men a day. All of this was common knowledge among the perpetrating communities, no one spoke out. Yet, many Britons & lukewarm conservatives expect you to believe you've the bad guy for wanting these people to get blood angrifd.

It's no coincidence that the first pro-White race riots were in the streets of England. The story of London's "Bladerunners" who have destroyed over 60% of the ULEZ cameras & essentially ended that program by force, cannot be ignored. It's also no surprise that a disproportionate amount of BW influencers are coming from the UK. The entire country is a radicalization factory. As someone who had the pleasure to train with the Israel Military several times, they have a very obvious ideological leaning. It's not leftism. The only thing stopping a coup at this point is the fact that the relevant officers who typically execute these actions are scheme & out of touch boomers. It only takes one particularly bold Colonel to read one too many upsetting newspaper headlines & take matters in hand.

The natural follow up question is what this conflict actually looks like. I see two potential scenarios, a clean one & a dirty one. The clean (or top-down) scenario looks a lot like a coup in the armed forces takes his unit & seizes the government. The Royal Guard will inevitably stand down, & they're the only security forces with firearms anyway. There wouldn't actually be anything in the way of 22 SAS simply airing out parliament & setting up a martial interim government. The most complicated part will be getting rid of foreigners & dealing with the traitors throughout the country after the fact.

The dirty (or bottom-up) scenario is a civil disorder situation, where a resistance force is formed from the citizenry. Essentially events like the riots last year, except taken further. Something akin to the BLM riots of 2020, specifically the instances like Seattle where government buildings are torched, police are killed & territory is occupied. I refer to this as "dirty" because it will be far less organized. Military personnel among our side will likely be defectors, cut off from their established organizations & supporting forces. I think it's likely (to the point of certainty) that entire battalions or regiment sized units will defect as a whole, but still. Most conflict will likely resemble gang warfare more than the Donbas. Fortunately for the UK, the sociological outlook leads me to believe it will be a clean two side conflict. Much better than the US, which a theorist will be messier than Syria.

Besides migrants forming their own local MT DOS, the primary first soldiers of the current establishment will be the police. History shows clearly that liberals don't fight, there's even precedent in very volunteer militias in Ukraine that formed to defend liberal democracy so it's safe to say the faggots at Hope Not Hate won't be arming themselves. For those unfamiliar with UK police, watch any video that features them. The most pathetic people you could imagine with next to no combat training or firearm experience. Their job duties currently consist of arresting 85 year old grifts for going to McDonald's past curfew & whining about hate speech online. The only real threat is an EU peacekeeping force, which is very likely that a GOP admin will offer tacit diplomatic support to a politically allied UK. They certainly won't get directly involved in the conflict, & Dem admin is a different story, but thankfully this would be political suicide so inaction would be their most likely course of action.

The only sure way to enter the UK in this scenario is to fly to France & cross in a small boat. Ironically, the same way migrants get in. It's not impossible that airports remain open, at least for humanitarian & refugee purposes. You may be able to get in directly this way. Unfortunately for those prepared, it will be nearly impossible to get weapons in unless someone donates an aircraft or ship capable of crossing the Atlantic. If you don't mind it being a one way ticket, a group of prospective volunteers can use the old PLO tactic of just hijacking an aircraft on the runway. Fortunately, firearms likely won't be necessary & you can fly with tactical equipment without issue. I say all this because I expect many of my followers are the type to take up the mantle.

The second potential flashpoint is the US, specifically the Marxist color revolution I spoke of at the beginning. In the past few months alone, an Antifa cell ambushed federal agents, a lone gunman killed/wounded multiple state representatives, multiple people attempted to assassinate the tangerine tyrant, leftists attempted to rerun the BLM riots in LA, a former Green Beret detonated the worst VIIED ever made outside Trump tower & Luigi donned a random executive in the streets of midtown. They're all retards & suck at this, but it is what "@Thelresistance" actually looks like. Eerily similar to what was seen in previous Marxist revolutions, such as Germany in 1918.

The reason this should be concerning is because we don't actually have a proper answer to this. Leftoids share more ideological cohesion & already have the networks that evolve into militant groups established. In my various articles touching on civil conflict, I touched on the importance of nominally moderate organizations (political parties, activist groups, NGOs, etc.) as they act as networking tools for future militants. We see this in Ukraine, Italy & the MidEast. The right has few of these organizations, though we are steadily building them up with things like active clubs & the like.

If leftists wanted to launch their revolution today, the only resistance would be the current federal government. There's a reason ICE now has more funding than the entire Marine Corps, & only half of that reason is deporting latinx's. Other federal agencies are also preparing for this possibility, but they're under the impression that they'll be fighting some sort of low level Weathermun Underground type organization. I believe they vastly underestimate the number of potential militants & overestimate their ability to make an explosive without killing themselves.

I will say that the only way this color revolution can be stopped is if Trump fully commits to martial law. Even more than what is currently occurring in DC at the time of writing. Blackwater, Xe, Constellis, whatever they needs to be brought up to bear & absolutely no care should be given to the Constitution or Declaration of Rights. In 2020, we had a call in BOBTAC to drag rioters off the streets in unmarked vehicles to stop the riots. Now, we need to give them the power to kill on sight. In dark blue parts of the country, federal forces will need to have the same mindset as Rangers looking to down in Baghdad. Fortunately, I actually don't think this will be an issue so long as Trump remains more popular than Congress or the courts & shuts these down, at least temporarily. Unfortunately for us, that means we're gonna have to shut up & like it for the time being.

I have written several articles about civil conflict in the US, feel free to read any as I stand by all of them. Advice for both militants & those trying to just survive remains the same. If you don't want you or those closed to you to find out what it's like to live in under the government Dr. Pierce describes in The Turner Diaries (AKA the current UK government), get the fuck out from those areas. They will rape your daughter & throw you to a firing squad for being so racist that you're upset about it. We all know how leftists are when they have power, even worse when non-Whites are present in significant numbers. Spanish civil war, Mexican civil war, pretty much every leftist takeover besides the Cubans.

Second order effects would be the Collapse™. The internal US economy & social system will immediately collapse, taking the rest of the world down with it. The US is the focal point of the spider's web that is the global economy. We go down, it all goes down, for better or worse.

Absolutely anything & everything must be done to stop this & prevent leftists from holding power of any form. There can be no mercy & no holding back. Both sides are well aware that this is the pivotal moment where the future is determined, no sacrifice is too can ever be too great.

> *"When we win, do not forget that these people want you broke. And, your kids raped and brainwashed, and they think it's funny." -*Sam Hyde
>
> "He who would live must fight. He who doesn't wish to fight in this world, where permanent struggle is the law of life, has not the right to exist." -Adolf Hitler

The hard times have only just begun. I have made this warning a few times in the past, but it cannot be overstated how suddenly things change. We could be in a state of war over the course of a single day. As the tension continues to increase, the breaking point will be all the more sudden.

As I said, we all know what leftists do when they take power. They will ruin your hometown into Rotherham, your country to Zimbabwe. They snitched on their own family for ignoring the COVID lockdowns, their predecessors snitched on their own families to Nazi & KGB. It's morally reprehensible to even hesitate to pull the trigger. This must be stopped, by absolutely any means necessary, & the memory of those people erased from public consciousness.

Hail Victory.

"But one thing which is quite clear is that much more than our freedom is at stake. If the Organization fails in its task now, everything will be lost—our history, our heritage, all the blood and sacrifices and upward striving of countless thousands of years. The Enemy we are fighting fully intends to destroy the racial basis of our existence. No excuse for our failure will have any meaning. For there will be only a scurrying horde of human parasites who will exist in a land that will be no White men to remember us either to blame us for our weakness or to forgive us for our folly.

If we fail, God's great Experiment will come to an end, and this planet will once again, as it did millions of years ago, move through the ether devoid of higher man."

-Dr William Luther Pierce, The Turner Diaries
